Innovest Systems and Chicago Clearing Corporation Enter Into Strategic Partnership for Managing Securities Class Action Settlements

New York, July 19, 2010 – Innovest Systems, LLC, a financial technology firm specializing in trust accounting and wealth management solutions, today announced that it has entered into an agreement with Chicago Clearing Corporation, a premier claims filing specialist in securities class action settlements. Through this partnership, Innovest's clients will have access to a comprehensive solution which ensures that all securities claims are accurately identified, qualified and filed, and that award payments are properly distributed.

"We are pleased to create this partnership with Chicago Clearing Corporation. It will simplify the previously onerous task of filing claims for securities class action settlements. Industry experts are predicting that the current economic climate will likely result in increased litigation. Our goal is to help our clients properly identify, qualify and file claims," said William Thomas, Innovest Systems' chief executive officer.

Brad Sutton, operations manager at Trust Company of the South, added, "Working with Innovest Systems and Chicago Clearing Corporation to manage our class action claims allows our firm to replace a labor-intensive and largely manual process for our trust department with a much more automated solution. Importantly, this enhanced capability allows us to minimize cost while maximizing return for our clients."

James Tharin, Chicago Clearing Corporation's chief executive officer, said, "We are looking forward to partnering with Innovest. This arrangement will allow us to bring substantial benefit to an expanding client base as we continue our mission to retrieve funds owed to harmed investors. Innovest's clients can rest assured that Chicago Clearing Corporation's considerable experience, expertise, and dedication makes us especially qualified to manage their class action settlement claims."
